Local Briefs

The Romulus Board of Review will be in session again with the 1984 dates set as March 12-16 and 19-23. Beginning February 27, the Assessor's Office will accept appointments for citizens who wish to appear before the board to protest their assessment. Those persons appearing before the board are urged to bring with them indicators of their contention of market value. An appointment is necessary.

City Assessor Matthew Raftary does not anticipate an increase in residential assessments other than increases due to new construction or for those people who received a reduction at last year's Board of Review.

The Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce will stage its annual Gala Las Vegas Party at the Progressive Club, Ozga Road near Huron River Drive on March 24.

Doors will be opened at 6 p.m. The fun and games will run until 1 a.m. A donation of $5 will be required. Food and refreshments will be available.

Are you interested in making Romulus a more pleasurable place to live? Would you be interested in joining the Romulus Beautification Committee?

If so, contact Mayor Beverly McAnally's offine for further details.

Because a majority of the Romulus City Council members will be attending the Michigan Municipal League Conference in Washington D.C., the regularly scheduled meeting of council for Monday, March 5 has been rescheduled for Wednesday, March 7.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Council secretary, Nita Laine, at 941-0666, extension 220.

State Rep Sullivan eulogized

Richard Sullivan's long and industrious career in politics and as a community leader ended last Wednesday when the 71-year-old state representative from New Boston died of an apparent heart attack.

Sullivan, who served as financial director for Romulus and later was elected Huron Township Supervisor and state representative from the 21st district died in his sleep in his daughter's home in Lansing, family members said.

"Mr. Sullivan was one of the finest and hardest working men I have ever worked with," said John Chichan, deputy supervisor. "He had earned all of our respect for his dedication and his honesty."

Sullivan had been recovering from a heart attack he suffered on Dec.14 in Lansing. News of that initial attack apparently led to his wife, Dorothy's death.

According to the family, Mrs. Sullivan, 69, died only hours after she learned that her husband suffered the heart attack.

Leading the delegation to Sullivan's funeral yesterday was Governor James Blanchard and House Speaker Gary Owen.

A first term Democrat from New Boston, Sullivan had fought the proliferaton of landfills in his district which included Huron Township and parts of Monroe. He was assigned to the Business Management Committees, Agriculture and Forestry, Economic Development and Energy, Liquor Control, Military and Veteran's Affairs and Transportation.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE RICHARD SULLIVAN

"One of his greatest dreams was to become a state representative," a friend said. "His dream came true after all of these years."

A retired Ford Motor Company accountant, Sullivan served as Romulus financial director before accepting the position of Huron Township treasurer. He was later elected Huron Township Supervisor, a position he yielded after winning the state representative's seat two years ago.

The Sullivans had been married for 43 years. They are survived by two daughters who reside in Lansing and a son who lives in Kansas City, Mo., and five grandchildren.

...s may seek millage

The Romulus School Board may give the nod for another school millage election within the next two weeks.

If approved, June 11 is the likely date for the special election.

The number of mills to be okayed is uncertain but School Supt. William Bedell said he will request 6 mills operating, and 1½ mills maintenance.

These are the millage requests made in the last millage election in November 1983. In that election, the millage went down to defeat at a 3-2 margin, compared to a 2-1 margin in August.

Some 5200 voters came to the polls in November, a mayoral election.

"Most of the latest cuts Taylor made (who recently successfully completed a millage), we have made," Dr. Bedell continued.

"The biggest cuts proposed by Taylor were the removal of bus service and the doubling up of the use of their buildings.

"These alternatives are not available to us because they do not yield the amount of savings needed to keep us open.

In fact, Romulus schools did take away bus service to students in September, 1977.

A millage was passed within two months after the bus cut.

What actions will be taken in Romulus in the future should millages repeatedly fail is uncertain, and school officials are not specific in their predictions.

But it is apparent the school situation, like Taylor's, is getting touchy. Some 17 millages have been held since that November 1977 millage and all have failed. A millage renewal and a bond issue did pass, the latter in 1981.

Bedell points to a $900,000 deficit from last year and an anticipated $1-million deficit next year as among the pressing needs of the school district which serves 5500 students in a population of 28,000 residents.

"In addition, we are close to not having enough state-approved school buses to transport all our children," he said. "We are faced with such severe maintenance problems (roof leaks) in some of our buildings that we could lose the use of some of these facilities.

"We estimate an immediate need for $450,000 in maintenance work. If it isn't done, it will continue to get expensive," he said.

Oakley is named WCRC manager

A state Supreme Court decision to let stand a lower court's ruling has opened the doors to new responsibilities and obligations for a score of local elected and former elected officials.

The Supreme Court last week decided not to hear the Road Commission's appeal of the Court of Appeals ruling that the Wayne County Executive had a right to install his appointees on that board.

In essence, the inaction by the Supreme Court gave William Lucas the right to go ahead and appoint the commissioners. Lucas had previously stated that he would get rid of commissioners Grace Hampton, Harold Bondy and Claude Dukes. The trio had challenged Lucas's right to replace them, setting up the court battle.

On Jan. 31, the Court of Appeals ruled that Lucas indeed had the right to make the appointments. The three incumbent commissioners decided to challenge that ruling in the state's highest court.

Lucas has appointed Mary Ann Banks, Mayor Pro Tem of the Romulus City Council, Curt Boller, Brownstown Supervisor, and Janice Frazier, his aide, to the road commissioner's posts.

Until the three appointees are confirmed by the Wayne County Commissioners, three interim road commissioners were named by Lucas. They are: Peter Glaab, prominent New Boston businessman who is president of Individual Financial Inc.; Benson Manlove, vice president of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., and Edward Cushman, vice president of Wayne State Unviersity.

The interim road commissioners adopted several key resolutions and also appointed former Romulus Mayor William Oakley as managing director of the agency. Oakley has asked Patrick Hogan, who served the former mayor as Community Grants Coordinator, to join his staff. Hogan has submitted his resignation to Mayor Beverly McAnnally and will leave the present administration in two weeks.

Asked whether the interim road commissioners should be making such key decisions, Mrs. Banks replied: "I believe that the interim board is making decisions that we would concur with."

Protest cost

Vandicar drain cleanup criticized

About 30 angry Huron residents protested the expense of the proposed cleaning of the Vandicar Drain, at a Township Board meeting last week.

The residents claimed that the cost of the cleaning, from Kings Road South to West Road, was excessive and they could not afford it.

A Wayne County Drain Commission "Board of Determinators" composed of three out-of-town individuals, had met Feb. 14 to determine whether the drain should be cleared, and decided affirmatively, sparking last Wednesday's protest.

Among the most vocal of the residents was Joe Luciow who said that the assessment on his 42 acres which border the Vandicar would run as high as $16,000.

Another resident, Larry Davis, said he favored the clearing because he is experiencing severe flooding on his land.

But the overwhelming majority of residents opposed the cleaning.

Some, like resident Ruth Pemberton, told the Board that their fixed income made it very difficult to pay the assessment.

The assessment calls for a total of $100 per acre for three years, or $33 per year, plus interest of 12½ percent if paid on a 3-year bond issue.

In the case of resident Luciow, he would be required to pay $4200 plus interest over a 3-year period. Davis would have to pay $816 for his 12½ acres, plus interest.

Bert Osterberg, the Belleville Enterprise's chief ad man for 34 years, enjoys a visit from grandaughter Sarah Lulow, a Quirk Elementary 4th grader. The end of an era comes for Associated Newspapers when Osterberg says his goodbyes this Friday. (Story on Page 6-A).

Huron schools OK paving resolution

The Huron School Board approved a resolution last week backing a proposal to pave 2200 feet of Hannan Road.

It would extend from Huron River Drive up to 30 feet beyond the Miller Elementary driveway.

The asphalt-paving project is estimated to cost the school system $10,360.

About 280 feet of the school property borders Hannan Road. The cost breaks down to about $37 per running foot. The entire project will cost approximately $150,000.

Charles LeValley, a resident on Hannan Road, made a presentation for the project at the school board meeting last Monday, asking the school system for its "fair share" in the project.

LeValley explained that there are 27 individual parcels of property with more than 27 families.

"It has become almost unbearable because of the dust on Hannan Road during the summer to the local residents," he said.

"Much of the poor condition of the road is due to school traffic and buses in particular," he added.

The residents would pay in excess of $22,000, if the project is approved, LeValley said.

Property owners are circulating the petition to the residents, the school system, and the Huron-Metro Park Authority. The petition will

Sumpter, City Sand remain in 'battle zone'

Sumpter Township officials are apparently in no hurry to touch the political "hot potato" of an out-of-court settlement with City Sand and Landfill, operators of a controversial landfill at Willow and Elwell.

Six weeks after City Sand vice-president Thomas Handyside approached the township trustees with a proposal to negotiate a settlement to the nearly two-and-a-half year old lawsuit, the trustees and Township Supervisor Jim Reeves appear to be waiting for the other to act.

The proposed settlement is almost identical to one unanimously rejected by trustees in October. A major difference is that City Sand deleted a reference to its proposed removal of two million yards of sand from the township in exchange for various "benefits."

Handyside said that, in his opinion, sand removal was the "biggest obstacle" to an agreement. At the January 5 workshop meeting, Handyside urged Sumpter officials to work towards an alternative to a court battle that he said might be "more expensive" for the township than for City Sand.

Several trustees said at the January 5 meeting that they might be willing to negotiate further with the landfill company. Since then, however, the proposal has not surfaced at township meetings.

"I have no plans to bring it to the board's attention," said Reeves last week. "I've given copies (of the proposal) to the board, and it's up to them to act if they want to.

"I've done all that I'm supposed to do on this," added Reeves, well-known for his outspoken opposition to the company whose operation of the non-toxic landfill generated the lawsuit.

But other township officials, to a man, said they were waiting for Reeves to take the lead.

"...That the settlement (with City Sand) is a 'hot potato' of an issue. And I don't think anyone's too eager to touch it in an election year."

Jim Reeves
Township supervisor

"It's up to the supervisor to set a meeting and discuss it,' said Clerk Louis Banatoi. "It should be discussed sooner or later if we want to avoid taking it to court."

"I think it's Jim's job to bring this up," said Trustee John Morgan. "He's our supervisor ... he's the one to lead the way."

From Trustee Michael Huziak: "I spoke to Jim about it a few weeks ago and he said, yes, we'd have to talk about it. I'm sure it'll be brought up sooner or later."

And from Trustee Virgil Humphreys: "It's the supervisor's job to bring it up. I think we should discuss it even if we can't reach an agreement."

Treasurer Clarence Hoffman charged that Reeves had spent "around $50,000 fighting landfills and where has it gotten us? No, I'm not going to bring this (the offer) up. He's the supervisor."

Reeves took exception with Hoffman's arithmetic. "That figure, $50,000 is plumb out of proportion." The supervisor suggested that Hoffman was referring to the $30,000 the township spent in 1982 on geological studies in an effort to fight City Sand's attempt to dump toxic waste in the landfill.

Contacted at home, Reeves didn't have figures available on how much legal fees for City Sand were costing but replied they were "nowhere near" the level Hoffman was suggesting.

The feud between City Sand and Sumpter Township ignited in the summer of 1981 when Sumpter officials padlocked the landfill, accusing the corporation of various ordinance violations including a too high grade level.

City Sand responded with a lawsuit seeking damages of up to $1 million from the padlocking incident. Sumpter has since filed a counter-suit of its own, seeking unspecified monetary damages.

Attorneys for both sides say the suits, filed in Wayne County Circuit Court, should come to trial in about a year's time.

In their proposal to the board on October 5, City Sand promised several "benefits' in exchange for the sand removal — and for 24 hour a day operation in order to speed up closing of the landfill. (City Sand officials say the landfill is nearing final grade level, and that they are anxious to close it.)

Benefits included a guarantee that the township would not apply for a hazardous waste license. Other concessions included a $200,000 donation to be used for a recreation facility; construction of a storm water/flood basin control basin, and a $25,000 annual inspection fee paid by City Sand to the township.

Some trustees said that the hours of operation and sand removal were the main reasons for their turning down the proposal in October. Others said they objected to City Sand's insistence on an immediate reply, although they acknowledged they had been negotiating in closed session with the corporation for three months.

In presenting the new settlement to the trustees in January, Handyside emphasized there was no time deadline for an answer.

Contacted recently, though, City Sand attorney Bob Ufer indicated that the Detroit-based corporation would not "wait forever" for a reply. Noting that inquiries to the township hall went unanswered, Ufer said "It's the township's move now."

Reeves agreed that the "settlement was a "hot potato" of an issue. "I don't think anyone's too eager to touch it in an election year," he said.

Schools get State Aid

Senate Democratic Leader William Faust (D-Westland) today announced that February state aid payments to schools in the 12th State Senate District total $11,435,972.

The Michigan Department of Education makes state aid payments to the local school districts in August, October, December, February, April and June.

In addition, Faust said, $1,131,772 in federal Title I funds and $331,093 in vocational education monies were allocated for distribution to the districts.

be presented to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners which does the engineering and makes the preliminary estimates and gets the bids.

The private effort is inspired in part by the realization that the County would not take on the project on its own initiative, LeValley said.

LeValley said that he expects the petition to be completed by March 1.

Members of the school board indicated their support on the understanding that an improved road would mean less damage to the buses and other vehicles.

In other business, the board approved the purchase of a refurbished baby grand piano for $4,170.

The piano will be used in the auditorium.

A new piano, it was indicated, of the same quality would cost $25,000.

The superintendent and board adjourned the meeting after 1½ hours for a 1-hour executive session for the purpose of discussion of negotiations of contracts.

En route to the session, the board and some residents toured the newly opened weight room, a spacious and colorful facility built under the direction of Tom LeBeau, the athletic director.

Much of the iron work to hold the weights was constructed by Mike Blosser and Dave Smith, vocational instructors.

Supt. Jackson noted that no tax dollars were spent on the facility. Some $2,400 from Huron Athletic Booster funds, and $1,100 from the Extra-Curricular Activites Fund was used to construct the weight room.

Ron Smith, teacher and girl's basketball coach who was at the weight room during the tour, noted that the facility was better than others in the area and that if the school had it constructed from an outside contractor it would have cost the school system $34,000.

Should PCHA at large members be ousted?

It appears that the legislative bodies of the 24-member communities of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority will have to decide how representatives to the Board of Directors should vote on the retention or elimination of seven members-at-large.

The decision would be the result of Senate Bill 333 presently awaiting Senate action an amendment and likely to be before Gov. James Blanchard for his signature within the next few months.

The bill was introduced by Sen. James DeSana (D-Wyandotte) and has won a majority support in both houses of the State Legislature. One person it has not won the support of is Patrick Norton of Wayne, that city's representative to the PCHA Board of Directors and its vice-chairman. He refers to DeSana's bill as a move "to politicize health care."

As it now stands, the bill, if approved, would leave up to the legislative bodies of the member communities to determine how their representatives would vote on the issue of members-at-large. That vote would come within 90 days of the bill being signed into law.

The 40 duly elected members of the board would then have to follow the directives of the legislative bodies in a vote that would determine if such long-time board members and members-at-large as Donald Pizzimenti of Allen Park, who is chairman of the board, Jack O'Brien of Wayne and Ed Dudek of Inkster would continue with the board.

Pizzimenti has been a member of the board for 20 years, while O'Brien has served 26 years and Dudek 12 years.

"Removing the members-at-large is in reality a recall of elected officials by other elected officials," Norton said. "It will be interesting to see if elected officials favor removing other elected officials, not for malfeasance in office, but rather because of some of their decisions."

It appears the DeSana bill is taking direct aim on the PCHA board in light of grumbles from Downriver board members about the members-at-large, who have formed a influential voting block that favors excessive spending. Reportedly, the dissident board members and Down-Norton sees it otherwise.

"The members-at-large are selected by board members because of their experience on the board," he said. "They have valuable knowledge from having served on the authority for many years. If something's working, you shouldn't fool with it."

The members at-large have been a part of the Board of Directors since the Authority was formed in 1945. They are appointed by the board for four-year terms. Those appointments will come before the board at its monthly meeting tonight.

Sources close to the PCHA board indicate that a vote on the members at-large would be close. It takes a simple majority, under the DeSans bill, to determine the board's composition.

Norton, apparently aware of the closeness of the possible vote, has vowed to speak with every elected official of the member communities in a lobbying effort to keep the members at-large.

It is uncertain how soon the issue will come before the member communities for a vote.

Protest proposed drain clean-up bill

The board voted unanimously to investigate whether the Wayne County Drain Commission had acted according to regulations and officially notified the appropriate residents of the Vandicar Drain District of the public hearing which was held Feb. 14. There are 208 parcels of land bordering the drain.

If this protest fails, the drainage cleaning will proceed.

In 1981, the township had cleaned up the southern portion of the Vadicar, with Federal Block Grant money, at a cost of $41,000. There was no such money available for this portion.

It is costing roughly $40,000 a mile and the cleaning will extend 1.8 miles.

In other business, Fire Chief Frank Marvaso recommended to the board that Tom Parker and Jamie Hinojosa be added to the roster of Fire Department No. 3. The board approved the appointments unanimously.

In another item, the board approved unanimously the following itemization for the use of the 1984 Block Grant Program: Final payment for fire truck $41,873, public services $4,000, minor home $2,000, New Boston sidewalks (sidewalks on Ellis St.) $5,127, Waltz sidewalks (sidewalks by cemetery and from Mineral Springs north to gas station along Waltz Road) $4,000, demolition of dilapidated structures $7,000 and administration $7,000. Total $71,000.

These proposed projects are eligible under the Federal requirements.

The program will not go into effect until late summer 1984.

Job opportunity: Employment application may be key to job

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of a series of articles put together by the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service Extension Job Training Department to help job-seekers in their search for employment).

One of the most important steps you can take to be sure and get the job you apply for is to fill out the application to your advantage. The application is the first significant impression your potential employer will have of you and it can make the difference between being interviewed or not.

The smartest thing you can do is prepare a personal data sheet about yourself and take it with you when you apply for jobs. This should include anything you could need to fill in but might not remember. Your social security number and dates of previous employment are very important.

Addresses and phone numbers of schools, previous employers and references are things you will also need to know. Be sure to have the alternate phone number of a friend, relative, or neighbor so you will not miss an opportunity. Have all of this with you and you will be able to fill out the application completely and correctly. If you can do this, you are already among the better half of the applicants.

Be sure to take other things you might need. Your driver's license, medical records, diplomas and certificates might be more helpful if they are not at home in the bottom drawer under the socks. Also take a black or blue erasable pen. You look more prepared if you do not have to ask for something to write with. Black or blue ink looks much better than pencil or purple crayon. Erasable ink makes it easier to correct mistakes and keep a neat application.

A resume is very helpful. Resumes impress employers and allow you the opportunity to present everything you want about yourself in a neat and easy-to-read manner. Attach your resume to the application, but fill out the application completely anyway. Occasionally, you might want to write in "Please see attached resume." Do not overdo it.

Before you begin to fill out the application, read the whole thing carefully. It is much easier to avoid mistakes if you know what is coming next. It is always easier to count on arriving at your destination if you take a route you are familiar with. Follow all of the directions. If something is unclear, ask questions. Be sure you put things in the right order. If the application asks for your last name first, oblige it. Applications usually ask you to list your most recent employment and education first. Follow these directions. You will be competing with many people who do not.

Answer all of the questions. If something does not apply to you, then write N/A (not applicable) in the blank or draw a line through it. This will tell the employer that you did not overlook it. Also answer questions completely. Do not leave out things like zip code, middle initial. Also watch for those "please explain" sections.

Spell correctly. Take a pocket dictionary if you will need one. Avoid using abbreviations and use upper and lower case letters correctly. "i WanT TO be a mechaNIC" makes you look like you need to go back to school before you think about doing anything else. Be consistent in how you write. Do not print some sections and write others. Do not start writing small and get bigger until your application climaxes with a finale. Choose a size for your writing which is easy to read but allows you to fit all of the information in the amount of space provided and stick with it.

Keep your application neat. Do not scribble. If you need to correct a mistake and forgot your erasable pen, then draw a line through it and write the correct answer above it. Do not fold the applications. Have clean hands. Hair oil and stains on an application have never been known to impress an employer.

If the application asks how much you expect to earn, then write "open" or "negotiable." If it asks which shifts you are available to work, list as many as possible. Get the job first; try for a better shift when you are considered a valuable employee or have some seniority.

List all of your skills. Experience with equipment, hobbies, things you learned in school and anything else that makes you look good can help. Employers look for little things to understand an applicant's potential. An active interest in athletics might not seem relevant for a job as a cook. However, the job might be open because the last four had health problems, alcoholism, or a case of the "party hearty" syndrome.

Do your best on the application. The employer is looking for someone who will come to work prepared, be thorough, and do his best. Your application is your first chance to prove that you are that person.

Stormy weather

TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

The weather forecasters didn't walk away from this one red-faced. They warned us that the storm would hit the area around 3 p.m. on Monday — and hit it did. And the impatient suffered.

Unmistakably the ice and arctic gales played havoc on the roads and frustrated motorists. Fortunately, most of the accidents that resulted from the icy conditions were minor. That's the word from local police agencies who put in extra and long hours in an attempt to aid stranded motorists and convey the injured to hospital.

Hardest hit by the storm was Romulus which is sliced by the I-94 Expressway. A jacknifed trailer blocked southbound traffic for hours and summarizing the situation as "just one big mess", Romulus safety director Donald Flood added, "we had quite a night".

Most of the mangled concentration of vehicles were at Merriman Road and the I-94 Expressway and the I-94 and Middlebelt, according to Flood.

"A semi-trailer flipped atop of a taxi," Flood said, "and we had to use the 'jaws' to get the driver out. He was pinned in there for some time. But he's all right."

The "jaws" is a steel-cutting device used by police and fire officials to extradite trapped motorists and passengers from vehicles.

In Canton Township, the situation was better...but not by much. According to traffic reports, there were nine accidents reported after 4 p.m. Monday (during the height of the storm), none resulting in serious injuries. Worst hit were the Canton Center Road and Michigan Avenue areas.

"The I-275 was bumper-to-bumper, but traffic was at a standstill," a spokesperson from the Traffic Bureau said. "When you can't move, you're not about to get into a serious accident."

In Wayne, however, Lt. Williard Peterson of the Traffic Bureau, said the city recorded nine accidents during the storm. One of those involved a school bus which was struck in the right side at Annapolis and Newberry. The driver of the car, a 17-year-old youth sustained "A" (serious) injuries and was conveyed to Annapolis Hospital.

"The driver was cited for driving too fast for road conditions," Lt. Peterson said. "We don't have, at present, any report of any child on the bus being injured."

Lt. Peterson added that "although we don't control the weather, it is safe to say that some of the motorists didn't reduce their speed as the road conditions warranted it. We had some good weather and when we were suddenly hit by the storm, drivers didn't react correspondingly."

Safety Director Ray LeCornu and deputy Fred Stafford were "lucky". They had escaped the local mess. Both were at a conference in Lansing.

Belleville Police Chief Williard Dockter and his staff also put in a long night as a rash of accidents hit Sumpter Road and Main Street. "We haven't compiled the total (number of accidents) for the night," Chief Dockter said, "but we had our share."

So did Van Buren, according to Sgt. Mark Perkins. "We had quite a few accidents resulting from the icy road conditions and the 'zero visibility'. Of the eight auto mishaps, all drivers aad passengers were treated and released.

Sumpter and Inkster apparently escaped the mayhem. Police Chief Clinton Brown of Sumpter said he felt the township "was lucky". "Would you believe we didn't have a single accident report? I think the Road Commission should be commended. They did a fine job out here, keeping the roads cleared."

Inkster Police Chief James Buckley said that most of the action took place prior to the storm. "We had eight reported accidents prior to the storm, and only four afterward."

And how do you explain that?

Lt. Al Billings of the Westland Police Department pointed out that there were "more than a normal" amount of accidents, however none was serious.

"I believe that most motorists wised up and took it easy in that storm," Lt. Billings said. "When you're going 15 to 20 mph, the injuries are going to be serious if you do hit. And most people are careful when the elements get bad."

And you can thank God for that.

Magic

I'm constantly amazed by the number of things I formerly didn't know.

I am learning, however, and one thing I'm learning might best be referred to as interpersonal relationships. Others might call what I'm learning magic.

Mr. Webster, in his infinite wisdom, refers to magic as: "1. The art that purports to produce supernatural effects, as with charms, spells, etc. 2. Any mysterious or overpowering quality that lends enchantment or 3. The exercise of sleight of hand, as for entertainment." Mr. Webster, we all agree, was one very smart man.

One learns in chemistry classes about basic elements and their properties. Water or $H^2O$ might remain in its basic state indefinitely, under certain conditions. As an example, water in a frozen state in the Arctic Circle might remain ice as long as it also remained geographically in the Arctic Circle. Transport that same frozen water to the warm soil of an Iowa farmer's thirsty crop or to a man dying of thirst in a middle eastern desert, and a change is effected. Is that, then, magic?

Knowledge sometimes transforms individuals when combined with the latent potential of a fertile mind. How sad when we see latent potential or talent trapped within an individual like the solid Arctic $H^2O$. Trapped, never to see opportunities that might have been, opportunities to accomplish good, opportunities to effect change for the good of mankind on this sometimes frightening planet we inhabit. Is that transformation magic?

I have absorbed and experienced change in this learning process called life. When two personalities with great promise share a conversation, an experience or perhaps an ongoing interpersonal relationship, that can be growth or change. That catalytic conversation or relationship might not ever have happened, and yet it does occur or come into existence for unknown or mysterious reasons. That might, to the eye of a non-participant or casual observer, appear to be magic.

Hey, what happened here? That Iowa crop begins to grow with vitality, that thirsty man becomes energic and alive again, a mind gains knowledge and the life and personality begin to change.

Some of us do not understand what takes place and remain amazed at change when it occurs. Some fear it. Some understand and welcome it.

Regardless of our reaction to change, it occurs every minute of every day all around us, whether we like it or not. Maybe the laws of nature appear to be magic when we don't comprehend or understand. Combine two basic elements in chemistry that remain unchanged and dormant while left alone and the result could be an explosion, or an entirely different chemical. That kind of magic amazes some, and frightens or bewilders others.

When I face a new experience, I ponder the life forces that effect these types of changes. The moon pulls on the sea and the tide goes out, right? Most adults in our modern American society are aware of this phenomenon. But what if, for some reason, it happened for the very first time tomorrow? What would we feel? Terror? Surprise? Amazement?

That's what happens when personalities change, when latent potential is unleashed, when basic dormant elements are brought into contact. Perhaps we should attempt to accept more readily life's changes. Individuals might fear things less...study them more and learn to celebrate the magic rather than curse it. There is, you see, nothing more certain in life than change...and magic.

So I don't know about you, friend, but I choose the way of celebration. Mr. Webster was right...magic does lend enchantment.

Era ends at Associated Newspapers

Bert Osterberg retires

By EVE SILBERMAN
ANP Staff Writer

In the courtroom, the judge gave no sign of recognizing him. But during a recess, he beckoned Bert Osterberg, juror for a day, into his office and closed the door.

"Now, Bert, I want you to give me some advice," he said, lowering his voice. "Election is coming up, and I need to talk about an ad . . ."

In 34 years, a lot of people have come to depend on Osterberg, the Belleville Enterprise's ad sales representative. And when he delivers his final copy this Friday, an era will end for both the newspaper and the customers, many of whom regard him as a friend.

"Oh, my gosh, I can't imagine what it will be like without him," said Pat Birbeck, manager of Bud's TV. "Every Friday for 27 years, Bert's come to lay out the ads with me. We're the best of pals."

"Bert doesn't tell us an ad's going to work if he thinks it won't," Birbeck continued. "He lays it on the line. He's just a very positive, very nice person."

"I'm not hard sell. I couldn't be. Hard sell doesn't keep long-term customers . . . Belleville hasn't changed that much over the years. There are traffic lights on Main Street now, but it's still pretty much a small town."
— Bert Osterberg

Enterprise office manager Diane Ferguson, who has "peacefully co-existed" with Osterberg for 16 years, is also very sorry to say goodbye. "He helps me carry out the garbage every Wednesday," she said. "It's going to be different."

Flattered by the "kind words of farewell," Osterberg, 64, is quick to note that meeting people has always been his favorite part of the job. "The Belleville people are real cooperative, real nice," he said. "I'm going to miss them."

At the Enterprise since January 1, 1950, Osterberg, 64 has received several citations from Associated Newspapers for his sales records. But high pressure tactics, he agrees, just aren't his style. "I'm not hard sell," he said. "I couldn't be. Hard sell doesn't keep long-term customers."

Over the years, Osterberg has sold, designed, pasted and proofed thousands of ads. He's often been the first to know when a business opened — or closed — its doors. "But Belleville hasn't changed that much over the years," he said. "There are traffic lights on Main Street now, but it's still pretty much a small town."

Only a handful of the customers he started off with are still in business, Osterberg says. "I keep in touch with people, though," he noted. "Mrs. Kureth, now, who used to run a dress store downtown. She told me recently she kept every ad we ever printed, and looks through them just for enjoyment."

Ad composing requires diplomacy as well as attention for detail, Osterberg said. "Most people have some idea what they want but others, especially if they're doing this for the first time, are at a loss," he said. "You suggest, show examples."

Osterberg has refused ads he describes as "bizarre." "People want to put them in upside down or sideways to attract more attention," he said with a shudder. "They don't believe you when you tell them it would only look like the paper made a mistake."

Osterberg learned to lay out an ad on the job, and cheerfully describes his first few creations as "pretty awful."

But he figures he developed his attention for detail at a previous job in tool design that he held for nine years. He also picked up sales savvy (as well as a life-long interest in nice clothes) as a clerk for the Hudson's men's department, right out of high school.

"Those were my only jobs," Osterberg said. "But you find that one thing builds on another."

And retirement means a chance to build on several interests, says Osterberg. A "competitive but not cutthroat" bridge player for 40 years, he's also an enthusiastic vegetable gardener and an avid reader of fiction. Meanwhile, he and his wife Amy, enjoy the extended visits of grandaughter Sarah, 9, in their Sumpter Township home.

"She'll keep us young," Osterberg declared.

Meanwhile, Osterberg is looking forward to a grand going-out party organized by office-mate Ferguson for this Friday. With old-fashioned word of mouth advertisement, many customers, past and present, have sent in acceptances. "I hope they'll recognize me without a pile full of ads," Osterberg declared.

Mother Nature has her say

senatorial opinion

WILLIAM FAUST
Senate Democratic Leader

The recent unveiling of Governor Blanchard's 1984-85 fiscal year budget proposals brought good news — in the form of decreased spending — to the people of Michigan. The proposed budget also makes history — for the first time in many years a governor has recommended general fund spending which is less than the previous year's.

The Legislature is about to begin work on the proposed state budget and I anticipate quick action. I also believe this spending plan has an excellent chance of winning legislative approval.

Specifically, the Governor has recommended the Legislature adopt a 1984-85 general fund budget of $5.38 billion. The proposed budget is $70 million less than the State expects to spend this fiscal year. Governor Blanchard's recommendation constitutes a zero-growth budget and emphasizes two immediate demands on state government — holding the line on spending and increasing funding for education.

The proposed budget provides for a major increase in education funding at all levels. K-12 schools, 4-year colleges and universities and community colleges will benefit substantially if this budget is adopted. This increase is paralleled by both funding freezes and funding cuts in other areas.

Funding cuts will not be accompanied by a decrease in services, however, as the reductions are largely the result of a decrease in government overhead and inefficiency.

It is quite possible there will be adjustments in the Governor's budget proposals as the Legislature begins work on this matter. The most important consideration, however, is to stay within the recommended $5.3 billion general fund figure.

If this is accomplished, the Legislature will likely proceed with advancing the .25 percent income tax rollback, scheduled for Jan. 1, 1985, to Sept. 1, 1984. This will provide an additional $130 million in income tax relief for Michigan residents.

In doing this, we can maintain quality services for Michigan residents and provide them with significant tax relief, while continuing the trend towards promoting economic redevelopment in our State.

editorial feedback

EDITOR — When a police officer makes an arrest, the use of deadly force is only allowed in rare instances. Is not a high speed chase with a 3,000-pound police vehicle deadly force?

I think so and am opposed to the use of these chases. There must be a better way! Some of these chases have a legitimate function as in the case of the one following the robbery of the Total gas station on Goddard Road. Some appear to have less value.

In my opinion, breaking off the chase after getting a description of the suspect vehicle and using the radio to alert other officers to be on the lookout, might help in reducing the number of these high speed pursuits. Once the chase starts a suspect panics and feels he must get away.

The pursuing officer on the other hand, may feel compelled because of department policy to apprehend this person at any cost. If a suspect sees that he is no longer being chased, he might abandon the vehicle knowing full well that he has been spotted. This is a better alternative than a hot pursuit through town.

More often than not the suspect has committed a misdemeanor and not a felony. The risk-benefit ratio must be considered in these cases.

I do not indict the officers, for they only want to do their jobs as best they can. I am sure none of them want to hurt themselves or anyone else during one of these chases, but whose child or loved one must be paralyzed or killed before a more stingent policy is made.

EDITOR — As chairman of Oakwood Hospital's first communitywide fund-raising campaign, "Our Community Commitment to Cancer Care," I want to report that we have not only met our goal but exceeded it.

With the hospital already investing $1,000,000, our goal was to raise $718,000 of the overall total of $1,718,000 toward the purchase and installation of a simulator and high-energy linear accelerator — the most advanced pieces of radiation equipment used in the treatment of cancer patients.

Our final result shows that 1,566 gifts were received for a grand total of $790,959.

The success of the campaign resulted in Oakwood receiving a $150,000 challenge grant from The Kresge Foundation.

This outpouring of support demonstrates the community's willingness to support its hospital. It is also a tribute to the more than 60 community leaders who personally were involved in the campaign.

Thank you, Bruce Lee

Thank you, Bruce Lee, wherever you are.

The mega-man of martial arts, you have given new meaning to the words "snap, crackle and pop."

Boy, I remember you. When you played the quiet, confident Kato, sidekick to Van Williams' "Green Hornet." How you surprised those bad guys with a few well placed karate kicks. Okay, so your show only lasted a few seasons on television, done in by those heavyweights from "U.N.C.L.E." But let's face it, your fans didn't have to rack their brains trying to remember what "U.N.C.L.E." stood for to answer trivia questions.

Boy, Bruce, I've heard you were really great in the movies, too. Those dragon flicks are classics these days, they tell me. Nothing like what they show on Martial Arts Theater Saturday mornings or on the Martial Arts Night of the "8 O'Clock Movie."

You know they've even found a guy who looks like you and named him Bruce Li. No kidding, Bruce. I watched him the other night in "Soul Brothers of Kung Fu". He even has your walk down pat.

But Bruce, nobody could replace you. Believe me. I've been subjected to several kung fu movies. (I think it's a craze among the teen-age set these days). Those films are really to much. I mean some of these characters can jump as high as 20 feet and propel themselves through the air like a Saturn rocket. They even have this other Bruce as a master of the "Iron Finger." Wow, that's scary. He can do in the bad guy with one well-placed poke to the heart. He poked a few other places, Bruce, but I can't say where, because this a family newspaper...if you get my drift.

I have a question, though. I know karate and kung fu means a lot of kicking and what not. But do they have to use all those sound effects? Like in "Soul Brothers"...The good guys and the bad guys took so many blows that they should have looked like bloody pulps, but they kept getting up and kicking away some more. If they raised their legs 10 centimenters there was a swosh. Forearm meeting forearm was worth a whap, and a sharp blow to the midriff made Sugar Ray Leonard punches sound like love taps.

Bruce, couldn't you send tham a message or something. The movies are bad. I'm ashamed to admit I watched one...but it was only because I was threatened with ostracism by my son and you know what psychological brainwashing parents are subjected to about spending time with their children).

You know, Bruce, I used to think "Attack of the Killer Tomatoes" was a bad advertisement for salad dressing until I saw "Soul Brothers." I haven't figured out what they were advertising, but I'm sure it wasn't a karate school.

Look, Bruce, I know you're dead and gone, but do you think you could reincarnate. I'm sure with your influence you could turn this fledgling film industry around. It was you who started it all, and I hold you personally responsible for what has happened. These films are giving you a bad name. (Yeah, I know the rumor about how you were killed because you revealed some of the martial arts secrets. If it was the bit about the snap, crackle and pop, I can understand why someone might have been upset.)

Oh, by the way Bruce. I feel I have to be honest with you. I never saw one of your films...and if the latest crop, including such greats as "Tiger Love," is any indication, I don't want to see them.

Sincerely,

SWAP AND SHOP

Mustang fans of all ages and descriptions flocked to Atchinson Ford in Belleville last week end for the Third Annual Mustang Swap Meet where cars and parts for the famous Ford Mustang were on display and for sale. The crowds were even larger than anticipated this year — and Atchison opened the showroom for new car sales as well. Will they be back next year — bet on it!!!

. . . by denny campbell

I hope everyone understands that even though we don't have a BMW dealer in Eagleland, when you have a chance to ride a BMW 318i you simply just don't turn it down! And I didn't!

New this year, the 318i updates the 320i. Why do the numbers go down? Well, it seems that back in 1975 when the 320 was introduced in America, it was easier to separate the American 1.8 litre, which required emission control, from the other 1.8s by referring to it as the "2," hence "320." So the heritage of the 1.8 litre engine goes back to 1975; its reliability is world reknown, and spunkiness most enjoyed.

Basically a four passenger, front engine rear wheel drive sports sedan, the 318i offers the most phenomenal trunk capacity I've ever seen!

The power surge comes on at around 4000 rpms, so cruising around town could get you 29 mpg using the precision shifting 5-speed, or sit back and rack off 37 mpg on the highway. The gearbox alone is enough of a reason to own this car — each "snic" brings more and more pleasure.

The suspension is firm but not taut; there seems to be an understanding between a BMW and the road; "You do good by me and I'll do good by you!" Recognizing the successes of the 320S, alloy wheels and wide tires are standard on the 318i.

BMW has built its reputation on being a driver's car, in more ways than one. Instrumentation and controls are all directed to the driver's position and reach; any lever or knob is placed well within easy grasp. Seating is incredible; you can adjust fore and aft, up and down, plus seat back rake on both front bucket seats. Choice of brushed cloth or perforated vinyl as standard trim. A clever seat belt retractor makes rear seat entry a breeze on this two-door only model. A four-door should be available by fall.

Fit and finish was above even the most meticulous inspection. Trunk seams were neat and clean. A full size spare too. I might add, and a tool kit is mounted on the trunk lid. Hood and doors appear to be pecision mounted. The "thunk" when you close them purveys vault-like thicknesses of metal! The manual sunroof seemed mounted on ball bearings; it glides fore and aft; it also has two positions. Close it and wind one more turn and the back edge lifts to extract smoke and stale air.

Rigged with the sunroof, air conditioning, and a terrific AM/FM stereo cassette, the Bimmer gets real close to $18,000 to own, which is not a cheap car. But if you consider the high resale values and low maintenance cost, my guess would be that over three-to-five years you could end up on the top of the heap owning this car. Leasing plans exist to allow you to acquire the car for as little as $240 per month.

The 318i driven for this column was provided on a complimentary basis by Erhart-BMW, 24130 Telegraph Road, Southfield, Mich; they'll probably run out of these cars — they're really great!

Next time around!

CANCELLATIONS AND CORRECTIONS
Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition: This will be the only proof you will receive. Errors should be reported immediately, as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first incorrect insertion only. NO CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

PUBLICATION POLICY
The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classify advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error found. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD
1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or definite information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader prospect to reach you. ALWAYS INSERT your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS ARE already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL do so not through a lack of readership, but because they are often quickly worded and do not contain enough information to prompt action.

LASER BEAM SURGERY

Laser beam surgery is a new and improved method for the treatment of conventional foot ailments. Laser beam surgery has proven to be safe and effective in the allied medical fields such as ophthalmology, gynecology and now, podiatry. We are one of few physicians to incorporate this new medical treatment which can help eliminate fear of conventional surgery.

WHAT IS LASER PODIATRY?

The major difference in laser podiatry and conventional surgery is that normal cutting is not done. A macroscopically controlled laser beam is focused on the infected skin and nail.

Foot Problems Solved by Laser Light

In Podiatry, a considerable variety of foot ailments can be treated with the laser

INGROWN NAILS

The corner of the nail and root are vaporized which is the cause of the problem.

FUNGUS NAILS

Normally a painful operation with cutting, the laser vaporizes the nail which is quicker and less painful. It also sterilizes and destroys the fungus.

PLANTERS CALLOUSES

With this process deep seated corns on the bottom of the foot are vaporized.

WARTS

Laser beam is used to evaporate instead of cutting the wart, thus eliminating growth and recurrence.

Do you know where to find LaSalle statue?

A "charming Roman soldier" and "Beethoven on speed" are among the candidates for Belleville's first statue.

These possibilities were suggested by a loyal ex-Bellevillite who has joined in the city's vigorous quet for a replica of famed French explorer Robert LaSalle, who passed through Belleville on one of his tamer adventures in 1680.

Patricia Groeschner, daughter of recently retired Mayor Justin Emerson, read about the "Great Statue" search in the Belleville Enterprise. Proving that her heart was still in Belleville, the Stanford, Connecticut resident volunteered to scavage around a nearby salvage yard that had "rows of statues" laying around in the dust.

Groeschner's search was simplified — or complicated — by the fact that no one knows what LaSalle looked like.

Groeschner sent her progress report to Park Commissioner Gregory, unofficial search coordinator. There were no sure wins, Groeschner said, but there were some "maybe's."

One "colonial type man" comes in two different forms. "One stands about 4'10" and is made of cement," Groeschner wrote. "Cost $225. His twin . . . stands on a 2½ foot pedestal and is cast of fiberglass. Total cost is over $600."

The city might also wish to consider a 3 foot bust of a man with long hair and mustache, Groeschner suggested. But she cautioned that "this guy ($325) looks more like Beethoven on 'speed' than a French nobleman."

The salvage yard also has some "charming Roman soldiers" up for grabs, the Belleville correspondent reported.

Gregory said the park committee was "waiting with interest" to see Gregory's photographs of the dirty half-dozen. Since no one knows exactly what LaSalle looks like, the search parties will keep an "open mind," Gregory said.

The statue will be erected in Liberty Bell Park, to greet newcomers.

You're invited to attend an Open House

Residents of Westland are being invited to an Open House on Sunday, March 4, to become acquainted with a new kind of medical care for common emergencies.

Family First Immediate Care Center, located at 1113 N. Wayne near Cherry Hill Road, Westland, will be holding an Open House from noon to 3:30 p.m. that day.

According to Dr. Ernest Sorini, one of the center's organizers, the facility will provie "high quality" medical care for common emergencies at a reasonable cost and without appointments or long waits.

The center will be open from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. every day of the year, with a doctor and support staff on duty. the center will be under the direction of Dr. Jane M. Bloom, a 1974 graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School and an emergency physician at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Among the types of illnesses and injuries the center will be equipped to handle will be broken bones, cuts, concussions, sprains, poisonings and burns.

"We have staff, facilities and laboratory and X-ray equipment to take care of most medical problems shor t of life-threatening situations," Dr. Sorini explained. "When specialized treatment is required, we will refer patients to the appropriate resource."

Sorini believes the center and facilities like it representthe future of 90 percent of medical practice in the United States.

20 area prep wrestlers survive regional tourney tests

Defending Class A state champ Temperance Bedford took a giant step toward retraining the coveted state wrestling crown by winning a tough regional tournament at Trenton High School on Saturday.

The state champs amassed 157 points for the first place team trophy, outdistancing runner-up Wayne Memorial which had 60 points. Wayne was followed in the over-all standings by Westland John Glenn (55), Catholic Central (48½) Belleville (36) and Romulus 32½) in the 18-team regional.

More than 20 local high school wrestlers survived the regional and qualified for the state championships scheduled for March 2-3 at Lansing Eastern High School.

"Trenton was one of the toughest regionals in the state," said Belleville High coach Gerald Malacek. "I believe that the MHSAA (Michigan High School Athletic Association) should take a good look at the district and regional and sort of spread out the talent.

"A lot of kids who were eliminated in the districts and regionals would have survived if they had competed in other area districts and regionals."

Wayne Memorial managed to qualify five of its grapplers from the regional and to the state finals. The qualifiers include 98-pounder Rich Malta, who placed fourth; Dave Davis, who also finished fourth in the 105-pound class; Ed Fowler, a third place medalist at 126; Dan Shareve, who earned a fourth place at 138, and Todd Shreve, who won a third place medal at 167.

Westland John Glenn had a regional champ in Dan Gibson who defeated Plymouth Canton's Todd Gattoni to capture the gold medal in the 112-pound class. Teammate Mike Rossi was runner-up at 119, while Rick Gillies (105) and Vaughn Biar (185) finished third and fourth in their weight classes, respectively.

Tony Sebastian will lead Belleville's mat troops into battle in Lansing. Sebastian struck gold at 126 by convincingly defeating Bedford Temperance's Glen Striggow. The victory boosted the 126-pound senior's over-all record to 28-4 on the season. The Tigers will also be represented by John Ritchey, who finished fourth at 112. The 16-year-old junior has compiled a 31-11-1 record going into the state finals. Also fourth for Belleville at the regionals was 198-pounder Don LaPorte.

Romulus's Tracy Cline qualified in the heavyweight category, defeating Brian Burgett to pick up a third place medal and 98-pounder, John Burcroff turned back Rich Malta for a third place medal.

Salem produced three state finalists in Rick Vershave, a fourth place finisher at 119; John Jeanotte, who was runner-up at 132-pounds; and Andy Ward, also a fourth place finisher at 145.

Canton's qualifiers included Todd Gattoni, at 112 and 138-pounder Tim Collins, a silver medalist at 138.

Romulus High Coach Wayne Schimming and Bedford Temperance's William Reignar were selected by the coaches as Region I "Coaches of the Year."

"It's an honor to be selected by your peers," said Schimming after he learned about the accolade. "I was truly surprised and happy to be recognized by those who work in the profession and know of all of the challenges involved in coaching and training young men and athletes."

'Coach of the Year'

Recognized by his peers for his excellence in coaching this season, Romulus High wrestling coach Wayne Schimming received recognition on Saturday as the "Coach of the Year" at the Class A Regional staged at Temperance Bedford. Schimming, who has guided the Eagles on mats for the past six years, has produced an outstanding crop of wrestlers that finished runner-up at the district and sixth place at the regional. Schimming (above) displays the citation presented to him by the Michigan Wrestling Association and is in the running for further state honors.

Glenn holds off Thurston to capture Northwest title

Four years ago, seven young men — Mario Grazulis, Jeff Hawley, Dave Long, Keith Reed, Todd Stein, Craig Thornton, and Don Ward — then wearing the orange and blue of Stevenson Junior High School, proudly carried the City Championship Trophy off the court that completed a 15-1 season.

Last Friday night, these same seven young men were joined by five others — Mike Baydarian, Steve Henson, Dave Jensen, Bob Nakev, and Ron Taig — to carry another championship off the court as the Rockets of Westland John Glenn defeated the Eagles of Redford Thurston, 60-57, to sew up the school's first Northwest Suburban basketball title since 1980-81. The victory was their eighth in league play (against only one loss) and raised their overall record to 12-6.

Like the rest of the season, this game was a tribute to the dedication, perseverance, and hard work on the part of many people.

Gordie Davis, the head coach who returned after a four year absence, molded this team into one of championship caliber. For Davis, this was his sixth league title and he was happy for the team. "I was particularly happy for the kids. They worked together. I'm just glad to be a part of it. They deserve it so much."

Daran Armstrong, who knows what winning a league title means after winning three in a row in his years at Glenn, and who felt "it is just as nice as when you're a player. You realize while you're conveying the knowledge of the game to the kids, you have a direct effect on their lives."

And then there were the 12 young men who gave everything they had this season for this championship, who proved that tenacity and a never give up attitude wins championships.

Davis was proud of his team saying, "We played as a team. They had a good team concept. They played very unselfishly."

Thurston certainly tested the mettle of this team on this particular night. The Eagles entered the contest having posted 20 consecutive victories on their home court and were intent on keeping that streak intact.

Coach Gary Fraylick of the Eagles felt the loss was "disappointing." "We really felt we were ready for them. We had a super week of practice. We made a few slight adjustments to stop Mike Baydarian to move to the basket," he said.

Last period rally wins for Romulus

Coach Al Wilkerson and his Romulus Eagles got a good look at Temperance Bedford Friday night and they discovered that their district tournament hosts can be tough on the home court.

The Eagles survived the pesky Bedford quintet thanks to a last period rally which lifted them to a 48-44 victory. Romulus will make the return trip to Bedford next week to compete for the Class A District Championship and the luck of the draw may bring the two teams together again.

"They're tough," said Wilkerson after the near upset. "We got to start putting the ball in that basket, and that's all there is to it. Our defense is coming around, but we have to score points."

Romulus ends the regular season this week. The Eagles clashed with neighboring New Boston Tuesday night and will meet Inkster Cherry Hill on Friday. They aren't expected to encounter any problems against their final two-nonconference rivals.

Temperance managed to stay in front at the end of the first three periods, outscoring their visitors 12-11 in the opening stanza. They increased their lead to 26-20 for two periods and 40-32 for three frames.

Then 6-8 sophomore Romulus center Terry Mills brought his team alive with three key last quarter baskets and sank seven of his 13 points in that period while Grant Long contributed a game high 18 points to put down the upset-minded Bedford.

While the scoring combination of Mills and Long went to work, Romulus's defense held the hosts to four points, giving the Eagles a 16-4 scoring wedge in the last period.

Grand Opening March 1

Glenn: Northwest Suburban cage champion

And it certainly looked like that strategy was working in the early part of the first quarter when Thurston grabbed a 14-8 lead, mainly behind the play of the Eagles' 5-10, 155-pound junior guard Roffi Kostegian. Kostegian scored eight points in the period, including four free throws. He even had the Eagles' fans on their feet as Thurston threatened to run away and hide.

Fraylick said that Kostegian had "been very upset at scoring only two points in the first game at Glenn." He certainly made up for it on this night as he scored 23 on the evening.

Davis felt the same way about Kostegian being a "super guard" as Fraylick had described him. "Kostegian got them back in the game later on with his penetration and desire."

The Rockets fell behind, 14-8. With 1:20 left, Hawley stole the ball and raced downcourt for an uncontested lay-up that brought the Rockets within two, 14-12. As time ran down, Don Ward got his hands on a loose ball and found Hawley racing downcourt. The 6-1 guard, who already has a co-championship patch for football in his possession, laid it in for still another basket that tied the game at 14 at the buzzer.

Fraylick felt that was the turning point of the game. "We were up 14-8 in the first quarter, then Glenn broke our tempo."

And break it they did. The Rockets outscored the Eagles 16-10 in the quarter as Hawley led the way with six points. Grazulis, the 6-6 center of the Rockets, added four points, as did Thornton. Baydarian's basket near the 7:00 mark gave them an 18-14 lead, one they would not relinquish.

"We started to get the ball inside more," said Davis. "We weren't patient at first with getting the ball inside."

Fraylick probably couldn't agree more. "Grazulis was the key to the game. He hurt us more than anyone else."

Glenn left the court with a 30-21 lead and their ever-loyal fans were celebrating. They could see the championship trophy and could taste the sweetness of victory. But their thoughts were tempered by what had occurred the week before when the Rockets had overcome a 14-point deficit to defeat Garden City in overtime.

Davis knew that too and cautioned his team in the locker-room. "We felt we had to do what we did in the second quarter, getting the ball inside. We anticipated them going to the press and we ended up getting some easy baskets off it."

It worked because the Rockets soon took control of the game in the third quarter. Ward was the hero of this quarter, scoring seven points and frustrating Thurston forwards Lars Anderson and Brian McGrath on the boards. With 46 seconds gone in the period, Ward hit a scoop shot that had the Glenn fans oohing, for one bucket, then hit a pair of free throws at the 5:23 mark as the Rockets built their lead to as many as 14 points.

"That was the best game he has played this year. He had key rebounds, keyed the fast break, and hit three big buckets in the third quarter," said Davis.

Anderson hit seven points for Thurston in that third quarter, including a three-point play at the 5:31 mark to cut Glenn's lead to 36-27, but Ward's free throws eight seconds later restored the lead to 11.

The man Fraylick feared the most and had prepared his team for — Mike Baydarian — got loose for two spectacular plays at the end of the period. First, the 5-11 point guard made a beautiful one-handed drive to the basket at the 12 second mark and then hit a 25-foot shot at the buzzer that gave the Rockets a 50-37 lead and had the Rocket fans on their feet.

"Mike played an outstanding defensive game especially against Filipiak. When they spread it out, he took control of the game. He's looking to get the ball to the open man," said Davis.

But as Yogi Berra was fond of saying, "It ain't over 'til it's over." Thurston made a stirring comeback (at least for their fans) that left the Glenn fans biting their nails.

Glenn went to the spread offense with 5:36 left. It worked for awhile as Baydarian, Hawley, and Dave Jensen took turns moving the ball around looking

"It was really a spread offense. We didn't go to the delay until there was 3:20 left. We couldn't get the ball to the big man, however."

That inability to score off the spread offense led to steals by Thurston and Kostegian turned them into nine points that helped bring his team back. Dan Starinsky, 6-7, 215, although hampered with four fouls, scored seven points. With 2:34 left, Scott Filipiak hit a rare outside shot (at least on this night) that cut the Glenn lead to 56-53.

But championship teams are known for their poise and Glenn proved they had that in abudance from many sources. Jensen played well off the bench, scoring four points and gave fans a glimpse of the future.

Hawley's free throws at the 5:36 mark had given the Rockets a 56-46 lead. That 56 stayed up there for 5:18 until Hawley went to the free throw line again, this time with Glenn ahead only 56-55.

Hawley showed his poise as he coolly dropped in both ends of the 1-and-1 situation. Baydarian was fouled with eight seconds to go and he, too, hit both of them, giving him 9 for the game.

Starinsky hit a basket at the buzzer for the Eagles but by then it was too little, too late, except to settle the final score at 60-57, and the Rockets had the championship they had set their sights on in November.

what's that sound?

. . . by steve o'leary

NRBQ
"Tapdancin' Bats"
(Red Rooster)

NRBQ is known as the world's greatest bar band, although there are many out there who would leave the qualifier out. The band included. Maybe even myself included.

Even though they've been around since the late sixties, NRBQ is yet to gain the national attention it deserves. It all looked to finally be happening for them a couple of years ago when Bonnie Rait recorded a few of their songs, including the title cut from her "Green Lights' LP, and the minor hit "Me and the Boys." Meanwhile, they recorded versions of other people's songs, most notably The Chipmunks "Things We Like To Do."

NRBQ was signed suddenly to Bearsville Records, their first major label in quite some time, but the resulting album, although good in spots, went absolutely nowhere. It was called "Grooves in Orbit," and to many long-time followers of the band it seemed the band had finally hit their decline.

And now comes "Tapdancin' Bats," one of the best LP's the boys have ever put together, and one that can sit proudly at the forefront of their semi-massive output. And is it just coincidence that they're back on their long-time label, Red Rooster, where they have complete control, instead of a representative from a large organization looking over their shoulders saying "no, we want hit singles!"

The LP opens with what I feel is its best song; an ode to famed big-time wrestling manager Captain Lou Albano, who also happens to be NRBQ's manager (he also appears in the great video "Girls Just Want to Have Fun," playing Cyndi Lauper's father).

The tune is uptempo, but from the very first line you know the band's tongue-in-cheek wit is as sharp as ever, as they sing with an appearance by The Captain himself:

Some say the man's not wrapped too tight
But when he's on the scene everythings alright
Captain Lout Captain Lou Albano
Lou don't worry 'cause he's figured in
And he's got sharp teeth like Rin-Tin-Tin. . .

Other highlights include "Ain't It Alright," which claims a riff from "California Man," the old Move song Cheap Trick had a hit with some years back; "The Dough Got Low," where the singer explains the main reason for sitting home on Saturday nights; "Pretty Thing," pianist Terry Adams' one-per-album slow, solo song, and the albums only non-original cut, "Rats In My Room," which carries on in the same vain throughout the tune ("Ants in my pants/a fly in my eye, etc.).

People who have seen NRBQ live swear by them, and here's your chance: they're coming to town. Buy the album. Then go buy a ticket and a beer.

NRBQ will be appearing at St. Andrews Hall this Saturday, March 3. St. Andrews is located downtown at 431 E. Congress, between Beaubien and Brush. For more information call 962-7280.

'Dresser' performed

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford will conclude its presentation of "The Dresser" with performances at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Guild Playhouse, located at 15138 Beech Daly in Redford.

Based on the book written by Ronald Harwood, "The Dresser" involves the story of an aging Shakespearean actor who is scheduled to give a performance as "King Lear" during the Second World War. His dresser, Norman, convinces him to give the performance but is forced to finish the play himself.

Tickets are priced at $5 and can be reserved by calling 522-8057.

Pizza reigns supreme at Empire

Pizza definitely reigns supreme at the Roman Empire Pizzeria in New Boston.

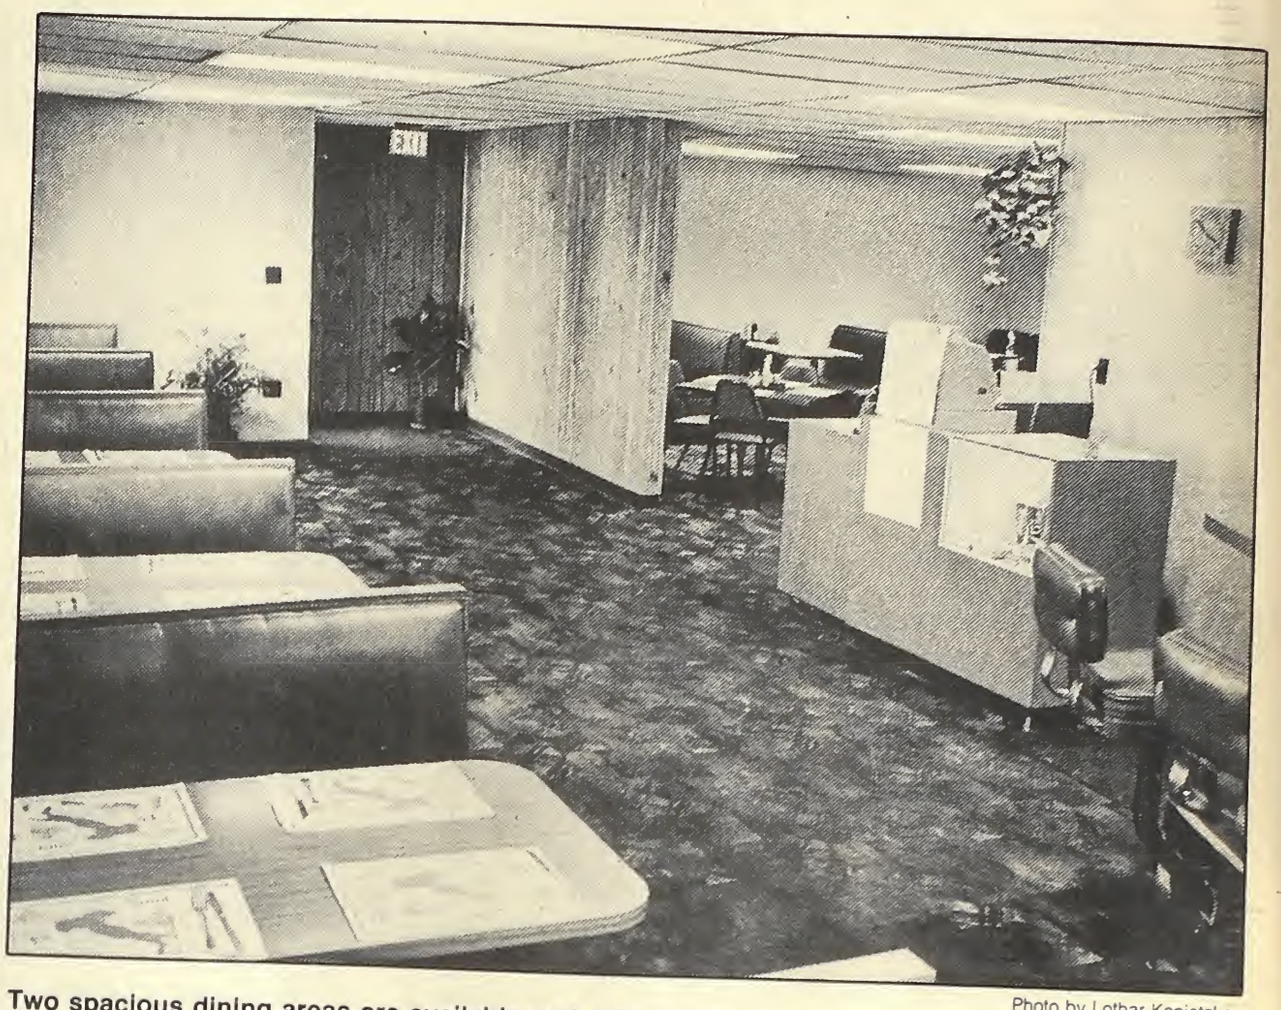
This extremely clean restaurant, located at 17200 Huron River Drive near Pennsylvania Road, features round pizzas, deep dish pizzas, taco pizzas and even uncooked pizzas ($4.99) for those who wish to dine at home. Sizes vary from eight to 18 inches.

One of the most popular choices is the Emperor's Special, a combination of cheese, pepperoni, mushroom, ham, onions, green pepper and bacon at prices ranging from $6.20 to $10.25.

Owners Jeff Stedman of New Boston and John Valchine of Redford have developed a special recipe for their pizzas, one which includes a liberal usage of various toppings.

"We do not use the food control techniques you'll find at some of the bigger chains," remarked Stedman. "For example, we don't weigh ingredients or stick to a set number of toppings. They may put nine pepperonis on a medium pizza, for instance, while we prefer to go with 20 on the same size. It all depends on how the pizza looks to us at the time."

In addition to pizza, Roman Empire offers a variety of subs and sandwiches — ham and cheese, turkey and cheese, roast beef and cheese, a club sub and a super sub. The popular toasted bagel features cheese, salami, pizza sauce, mushroom and pepperoni.



Two spacious dining areas are available at the Roman Empire Pizzeria in New Boston.

Opened last July, this 2,000 square feet pizzeria comfortably seats 55 and has a game room with eight machines. Business hours are from 11 a.m. until 12 a.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 11 a.m. till 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Home delivery, which costs $1, is available by calling the restaurant at 753-4474. Roman Empire Pizzeria offers $1 off on any pizza and a free liter of pop as one of its coupon specials.

PEACE OF MIND FOR MOTHER — SON LIVING 3,000 MILES AWAY!!

Dear Letter Writer:

When my son, Doug, graduated from high school, he moved to California to attend college. After about one year in the Los Angeles area, he came back to Michigan because of the pressure of working full-time and attending school full-time.

After being home for about six months, Doug decided to return to the West Coast. He made arrangements to live temporarily with the family of a friend he had met on his first trip out west.

I want to write to the parents of Doug's friend and express my concern and let them know a little about me and how I can be reached. Doug is only 19 years and old I want this family to know that I care. Please help me.

Sincerely, Mrs. E.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. B.:

This letter is being written to introduce myself to you both. I, of course, am Doug's mother.

I felt compelled to write to you and express my appreciation for your allowing Doug to rent space in your home until he can find a place of his own. As his mother, I am sure you can understand that it makes me feel comfortable knowing that he is in a wholesome environment with a nice family.

As you also know, this is Doug's second trip to California. Having gone through the first trip and clearly remembering how dreadfully I missed him, I am, to some extent, dreading losing him again. My only consolation lies in the fact that I know he is happy. This is important as I know in my heart that this time Doug will not return home other than to visit. He is a special "child" and I love him very much.

I am having some difficulty with Doug's decision. Although I know it is well thought out and sound, I will miss him terribly. The reason for this letter, however, is not to cry on your shoulder, but rather to express my gratitude and provide you with a means of getting ahold of me should you need to. Inasmuch as Doug is still a minor (primarily for medical purposes,) I want you to know how to locate me. If there is anything that you need at any time, please to not hesitate to call me, collect.

I hope to be able to visit Doug within a six to 12 month period of time. I very much look forward to meeting you, as well as your son, at that time. Isn't it fun being a parent?

I told Doug that I was going to write to you and he said "Mom, please don't make it sound as though I am a little boy". I responded by saying, "Doug, you know better than that, I just want Mr. and Mrs. B. to meet me by mail".

Between you and I and the fence post, he is my "Little Boy". I am sure that you both know where I am coming from.

All of my greatest expectations and dreams for Doug have come true, he is very happy. Doug has the freedom to make choices; a freedom that those of us raised in the 40's and 50's did not have. I envy him his heritage. But, most of all I love him.

Sincerely, Ms. E.

RESOLUTION: Mr. and Mrs. B. called Ms. E. long distance and assured her that Doug was "in good hands". Three months after Doug's move to California he found a place of his own and left the B's residence.

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD MINUTES

MINUTES OF SPECIAL MEETING
OF THE SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD
HELD ON FEBRUARY 21, 1984

Special Meeting called to order by Supervisor Reeves at 5:00 P.M. with the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Roll Call Showing:

Present: Supervisor Reeves, Clerk Banotai, Treasurer Hoffman and Trustees: Humphreys and Morgan. Huziak, late.

Absent: Bevins.

Excused: Bevins.

Late: Huziak.

Also present: Engineer Wilhelmi, Deputy Clerk Sienko and approximately 40 citizens.

Motion by Humphreys, supported by Morgan, to approve the agenda. Motion carried unanimously.

Discussion of Block Grant Funds.

The Fire Chief and Assistant Chief were present to ask for necessary additional equipment for the Fire Department in the amount of $19,900.00.

Several of the township residents present were in favor of the Township acquisition of the Sumpter Elementary School. They felt that even though the School could be acquired from the Van Buren School Board without cost, the repairs on the building would be too costly a burden for the Township taxpayers. A sheet on energy conumption for the year 1981-82 and the year 1982-83 along with a list of building repairs and costs was submitted by Don Rochon.

Still other residents felt that the Block Grant Monies should go to things like the Fire Department, roads and drains.

Several of the township residents present wer in favor of the Township acquiring the Sumpter Elementary School. They feel that the youth of the Township would have a recreation area with the gym in the school as well as the playground outside. Some felt it could be converted into Shared Housing, as many as 32 units, for Senior Citizens. Also could be used as a vocational school, recreation center, etc.

Still other residents would like to see some of the money going for additional waterlines.

Members of the Township Board commented on the use of Block Grant Funds.

Mr. Humphreys was in favor of acquiring the Sumpter Elementary School for the Township. Several uses could include recreation for youth, senior citizen activities, training program for the unemployed as well as many other uses for the entire Township.

Mr. Morgan was also in favor of acquiring the School Building. Said the Township is in need of a meeting place. If the Township should find the cost of maintenance and repair too costly and the Township cannot get a grant then an alternative would have to be decided upon, such as perhaps demolishing part of the building and just leaving the kitchen, gym and one or two classrooms.

Mr. Banotai is concerned about the budget. At the present time two or three large items that were on the bills to be paid at the last board meeting have not been paid due to lack of funds in the budget. Budget will have to be amended. If the School Building is acquired by the Township and no grants are available the repair and maintenance would have to come from the General Fund and the Township could not afford to pay the building maintenance out of General Fund.

Mr. Hoffman explained that the unpaid bills will be paid after an amendment to the budget has been made. The money is there, it just has to be reallocated to another fund. Is also in favor of the Township acquiring the Sumpter Elementary School. It is the only place large enough for the Senior Citizens and the only recreation area we have in the Township is the roller rink. The Township has not progressed in the last twenty years. The School Building would be for all the people.

Mr. Huziak questioned whether or not the Township could acquire the School Building at no cost. Would like to see an itemized statement as to the cost of repairs to the Building and be sure we could get a government grant or the Township could spend a lot of money. We should know how much money we are going to be asking for. Would like to see an itemized listing of the needs of the Building.

Mr. Morgan stated that we were told before we could get a grant we had to acquire the Building. That has been done. If we cannot get a grant we will have to take the alternative plan. Mr. Morgan suggested a Citizens Committee be appointed to get input on the feasibility of getting the Building.

Mr. Reeves stated that we have to make a decision on the use of the money now or we could lose it.

Mr. Morgan stated that we did not have to allocate the money now. Just the acquisition of the School and the feasibility study were necessary now.

Mr. Banotai was ready to propose a use for the money. $19,000 for the Fireman, $6,500 for the Romulus Help Center, $10,500 for the Senior Citizen Coordinator and the balance for the ditches.

Mr. Huziak stated $5,000 should be included for the Feasibility Study of the School.

Mr. Reeves stated that we should have up to $5,000 for the Feasibility Study, but if that much is not used it could be put somewhere else. Also he liked Mr. Morgan's idea of forming a Committee to study the use of the Building.

Also discussed was the 10 acres of land that the School Building is setting on. It was understood from the Van Buren School Board Meeting the acreage is negotiable.

It was also suggested by a resident that if the Township acuired the School Building and no grants were available at the present time the building could be boarded up until such a time as monies is available to renovate the building.

At this time all the residents comments had been heard as well as all the Board Members, the Supervisor asked for a motion on the Proposed Use of the Block Grant Funds.

Motion by Banotai, supported by Humphreys, that $40,000 be allocated for Drains, $6,500 for Romulus Help Center, $10,500 for Senior Citizen Coordinator, $4,500 for Administration, $20,000 for Fire Department Equipment, Feasibility Study for Sumpter Elementary School $5,000 and $1,500 for Planning. Total $88,000. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Hoffmann, supported by Huziak, to adjourn. Special Meeting adjourned at 7:10 P.M.

Respectfully submitted,
Louis P. Banotai, Clerk

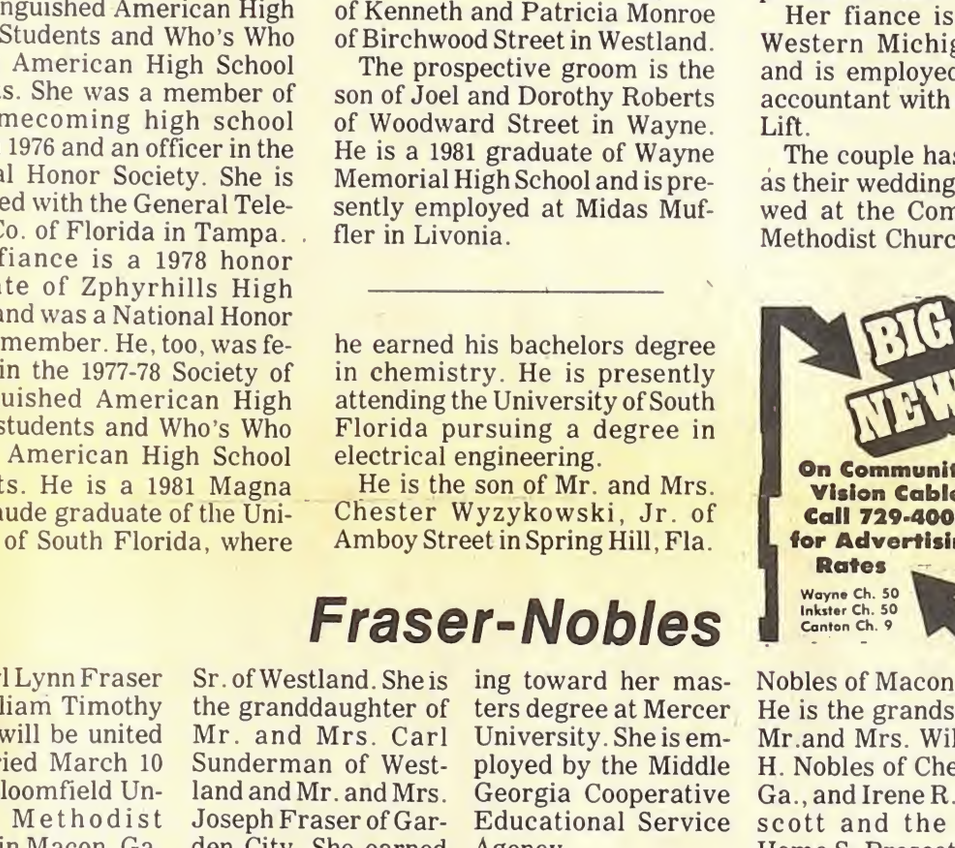
Before you subject your baby to the risk of 2 or 3 years of burning, itching skin from using disposable diapers

TRY IT YOURSELF FOR A DAY!



The alternative is pure and simple, and better for babies: diapers made of 100% cotton cloth. Cotton, unlike disposables, contains no petrochemicals of any kind. Cotton is, of course, naturally soft, absorbent and breathable.

Millions of dollars are being spent on advertising to make people believe that disposables are convenients. But the constant need to go out and buy more and more disposables, daily or weekly, for a period of years, is not convenient.

What is truly convenient is to use a professional diaper delivery service to do all the work for you.

You should know that parents are now starting to rebel against disposables and are returning to pure cotton diapers. Because it just doesn't make sense to subject a baby to increased risk of suffering from skin rash.

Disposable diapers may be easier on parents,
but cotton diapers are easier on babies.
